

a thousand ELSEWHERE

Imperfect bible doodles + musings from a recovering perfectionist for an intentional Christian lifestyle --- Better is one day in your courts than a thousand elsewhere. Ps 84:10a

Hi, my name is [Carling] Jordan Feenstra (I go by my middle name, and I'm still getting used to that last name) I'm a Graphic Designer by day and a Bible doodler the rest of the time. My new husband and I call a tiny 500sqft. apartment in a heritage house in downtown Grimsby, ON Canada home, with our growing collection of house plants. I set out in November 2015 with the reflection that I often put so much pressure on myself for perfection in my life. Realizing it landed me a lifelong struggle with anxiety, and that it can only be achieved through the saving grace of Jesus, I let go and let God. I hope to continue to grow in my own insecurities, in my relationship with God and my husband in a Christ-centered marriage. In turn, my goal has been and continues to be to help others fight the commonality that is lukewarm faith, however I can. Join me and DV we'll grow together.

@athousandelsewhere

@athousandelsewhere

athousandelsewhere@gmail.com